

About us

To introduce ourselves - we are Eva Bartilucci and Frank Czygan.

We are two German students who saw the need to build up a network for professional translators which is completely free. With meet-translators.com we hope to fill this niche and thereby give you the opportunity to enhance your translations through our free platform and, of course, to enjoy making new contacts worldwide.

You can use meet-translators.com completely for free. Please support our work by clicking on the few ads that we display on our site. We would welcome any feedback: critics and recommendations regarding services on meet-translators.com, especially if you think anything is missing.

In addition, we would like to encourage you to actively invite friends and colleagues to visit the platform so that the site can grow to include more countries, with more languages being represented.

Feel free to contact us with your concerns and questions!

Enjoy meet-translators.com! :-)

Best regards,

Eva Bartilucci and Frank Czygan
